

We bought and successfully started second „flying probe” tester from Japan company “Microcraft”, model EM5141.

This model is more precise and faster than EL6146MS. The test is full like in first model. This tester will help us to increase the quality of prototypes and small series PCB produced in the company, regardless of complexity.